

I use satellite radio in both my office and my home. The addition of local information on satellite radio to the already diverse and unique programming would be extraordinary. Traditional AM and FM stations simply do not provide what I want from radio. The inability of traditional AM/FM stations to compete should not be used as leverage or justification to effectively limit the best thing to come to radio since early FM.
Thank you.